BRITISH, NAZI TROOPS BATTLE IN NORWAY

Land Forces in First Clash; Trondheim Engagement Seen Soon.

By The Associated Press

THE land forces of Great Britain and Germany were reported today finally to have come to grips in Norway, opening up a phase of combat which probably will determine the fate of Scandinavia and perhaps with it the outcome of the European war.

A British news agency, Reuters, reported from Stockholm that the first encounter occurred at Namsos, on the Atlantic coast 100 miles north of the key city of Trondheim.

Dispatches reaching the Swedish capital said that the German forces had been repulsed. Swedish frontier reports said that Namsos was the point picked by the British for their latest troop landings while Norwegian forces concentrated at Steinkjer, 30 miles nearer Trondheim.

Apparently the Germans had been rushed north from the German controlled, strategic Trondheim region to meet the British landing parties. Perhaps they sidestepped or trapped the Norwegian concentration at Steinkjer, south of Namsos.

More Troops Landed

The British war office's second laconic communique since the spread of the war to Norway April 9 told yesterday of continuing debarkation of British troops on Norway's shores and of their contact with Norwegian forces and added that "operations are continuing."

A Norwegian communique, about the same time, said that contact had been made with allied forces "by both land and sea."

The struggle for control of the Norwegian skies is continuing but still undecided between Nazi airmen and those of the British royal air force and the air arm of the fleet.

The British press, however, expressed confidence that powerful naval forces flanking Norway could turn a victory for the allied land forces.

Norwegian troops, with allied aid, were stiffening their resistance to the German invasion as fighting foreshadowed a major engagement in the Trondheim area and a determined stand inland north of Oslo.

A war picture, still obscured by shattered communications lines, was pieced together from scanty accounts by Norwegian government sources and Swedish newspaper dispatches in Stockholm.

These indicated the Germans still were increasing their hold on Norway but that the allies and Norway had established contact and were preparing active collaboration.

Tonsberg at the mouth of Oslo fjord surrendered to the Germans without opposition yesterday.

British officers were reported to have reached Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo, where the Norwegian government made its first headquarters after fleeing the capital.

Germans Near Hamar

Hamar remained in Norwegian hands but the arrival of German troops, moving northward in buses behind motorcycle patrols, was expected momentarily. Small tanks were observed in the south moving toward Hamar.

Signs pointed to the abandonment of the town itself and the establishment of defense lines a short distance north. Log barricades 10 feet high were erected across the highways to delay the German advance.

Dispatches said the Norwegians believed they could hold out for some time near Hamar and Elverum, which also has been a temporary seat of the government.

There were reports in Stockholm a British landing would be attempted at Andlasnes, 100 miles southwest of Tronheim at the head of Romsdals fjord. Such a move probably would be aimed

BERLIN REPORTS 4 BRITISH SUBS SUNK

Says Operations, Otherwise, Are Quiet in Norway.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, April 19—The sinking of four allied submarines in recent operations off Scandinavia's coasts was reported today in official German announcements.

The high command communique said that "one enemy U-boat was sunk instantly after being struck by a bomb" when German warplanes attacked naval forces and transports preparing a landing north of Narvik, the disputed far northern Norwegian port.

DNB, the official news agency, declared that "returning anti-U-boat pursuit units" had confirmed the destruction of three allied submarines in the Skagerrak and Kattegat. The high command communique previously had reported these sinkings as probable.

NDB described the German air attack above Narvik as a surprise action which caught British naval ships and transports off Guard near Harstad, 37 miles north of Narvik.

Several "severe hits" were scored, the agency said. The Germans did not say whether the landing was prevented.

NDB added that bad weather had compelled the German command to call back air force units sent out against allied naval forces which had been spotted by reconnaissance planes off the Norwegian coast.

Aside from the Narvik attack, the high command said that yesterday passed quietly in sections of Norway occupied by the Germans.

Ex-Premier Arrested in Yugoslavia in Plot To Help Nazis Seize Country

By The Associated Press

BELGRADE, April 19—Discovery of a plot to overthrow the government of Premier Dragisca Cvetkovic was reported today in quarters close to the government following an announcement that former Premier Milan Stoyadinovic would be interned in a mountain fastness under heavy guard.

These sources indicated that success of the plot had hinged on entry of German troops into Yugoslavia.

Stoyadinovic was taken into custody after a police raid on his home disclosed documents linking him with Nazi "fifth column" activities in Yugoslavia.

A cabinet communique drafted for publication in Yugoslav newspapers tomorrow said Stoyadinovic was ordered interned because his activity was dangerous to the peace and order of Yugoslavia.

The details of the plot, it was asserted, were discovered when police examined private papers seized in a midnight raid on the former premier's home on Tuesday.

Two of Stoyadinovic's followers who were members of his cabinet, Dobrivoye Stosovic and Djura Yankovic, are under close police watch on suspicion of participation in the plot. Police also occupied the premises of the Serbian radical party which Stoyadinovic formed recently.

Police raids continued on the homes of other Stoyadinovic followers.

Action begun several days ago to investigate Germans established in frontier regions and suspected of being potential members of a Nazi "fifth column" also was intensified by police and gendarmes.

Sources close to the government recalled the recent arrest of 50 Germans in northern Yugoslavia near the German frontier. They were charged with measuring and mapping bridges, railroads, strategic highways and other military objectives.

CITY SUED BY EX-PATROLMAN

H. E. Andrews Seeks Judgment for Salary Cut in 1936-37.

Suit against the city of Marion seeking judgment of $705.24, representing deductions from his salary while he was a member of the police department, was filed today in common pleas court by Howard E. Andrews, retired patrolman.

He contends that he was paid only 85 per cent of his salary during 1936 and 1937. Also included in the judgment which he seeks is a deduction of $23.27 from his salary for March, 1940.

Cuts in the wages of municipal employes were made during 1936 and 1937 as an economy move. The deduction of $23.27 from his salary for March, the last month he worked prior to his retirement, represents equipment which was issued to Andrews and not returned when he left the department, city officials said today.

The suit is the first to be filed by a member of the police department for restoration of salary cuts during 1936 and 1937. Municipal employes in several other departments, however, filed suits and received judgments against the city for deductions from their salaries.

Andrews is represented by J. Wilbur Jacoby.

MARBLE GAME SUIT NAMES POLICE CHIEF

Injunction Sought To Prevent Confiscation of Devices.

An injunction suit was filed against Police Chief Marks in common pleas court today by the Ohio Amusement Co. of Columbus. The company seeks a court order to restrain Chief Marks from interfering with marble game boards now in operation in the city.

Chief Marks, according to the petition, has threatened to confiscate the devices. The game, which involves the propelling of marbles onto an inclined board by means of a plunger, is in no way gambling, the company contends.

Participants, who insert a nickel for each round of play, merely test their skill and do not receive tokens or awards from the machines, according to the petition. The company asks a temporary injunction pending a hearing on making the injunction permanent. Mouser & Mouser represent the company.

Chief Marks said today that he had no knowledge that the machines were being operated in the city.

NEWARK, O., April 19—Common Pleas Judge Frank E. Slabaugh today temporarily restrained the Newark police department from confiscating pinball machines or arresting business men exhibiting them.

The order was granted on the request of R. H. Warner, head of a vending machines company, who said two machines had been destroyed by police. No date was set for hearing on a permanent order.

The restraining was directed against Mayor Olan Wright and Police Chief Carl Christman.

British Strategy Seems To Include Sweden As Ally

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Further indications in today's news that a major battle for possession of the important Norwegian port of Trondheim is boiling up gives us a fair opportunity to guess the Anglo-French strategy underlying their widely separated and seemingly disjointed operations.

It is my personal view from the facts at hand that this strategy grows out of an expectation that Sweden will be invaded by the Germans and so become one of the allies.

This idea is based on the emphasis the allies appear to be giving the desirability of rail connections with Sweden, especially as regards the isolated attack on Narvik way up there inside the Arctic circle.

To the onlooker the allied program may seem to be developing rather slowly and allowing the Germans undue time for consolidating their positions. It should be borne in mind, however, that failure would be costly not only in lives but in the moral effect on neutrals, who are watching this conflict with intense self-interest.

It strikes me that the operations are proceeding with that British precision which generall spells inevitability.

The Allied-Swedish cooperation —assuming German invasion— would have three objects. These would be (1) the fulfillment of the allied promise to aid Sweden in event of attack, (2) the much desired extension of the northern theater of war from which the allies could strike at Hitler's right flank, and (3) support for the undoubtedly difficult task of ousting the established German forces from central and southern Norway.

The Anglo-French operations appear to be divided into four major phases, if we include the potential assault on Trondheim. These are:

(1) The battle for Narvik, (2) the probable assault on Trondheim and a determined effort to make a landing of expeditionary troops with their supplies, (3) the air and naval bombardments of Bergen and Stavanger in the southern part of the country, and (4) the allied combing of the Skagerrak and Kattegat with the idea of cutting the Germans off from access to Norway and Sweden by water.

Pardons Granted by Hitler on Eve of 51st Birthday

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, April 19—Publication of a decree by Adolf Hitler of amnesty for physicians, dentists and pharmacists convicted of offenses against their professional rules committed before last Sept. 1 coincides with preparations for celebration tomorrow of the fuehrer's fifty-first birthday.

The Sept. 1 limit coincides with the date that Germany went to war with Poland—the actual start of the European conflict.

As is the custom, Hitler's anniversary tomorrow will be celebrated on a nationwide scale but the celebration will be subdued because of the war.

Key Nazis, however, prepared to pour out their flowerlest phrases of praise for the fuehrer. Speeches broadcast throughout the country in Hitler's honor will be a major portion of the observance of the anniversary of his birth at Braunau, Austria, near the German border.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels makes his customary nationwide birthday eve radio speech tonight at 7 o'clock. Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy party leader and second in line of succession to him, addresses the nation's youth at 8 a. m. tomorrow. And Baldur Von Schirach, head of the Hitler youth organization who now is a corporal in the army, will extend the organization's best wishes to Hitler from the westfront by radio tomorrow night.

Buildings have been ordered decorated with the swastika flag.

At the direction of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering Germans for weeks have been contributing objects of bronze, copper, nickel, lead, brass and zinc to the war-time metal collection as the nation's birthday gift to Hitler.

Even the German equivalent of the barber pole, a brass plate which used to hang over the door of the barber shop, has been sacrificed in the metal salvaging.

REJECT OFFERS OF PROTECTION

Dutch Say They Do Not Need Help; Martial Law Is Extended.

By The Associated Press

THE HAGUE, April 19 — The Netherlands will resist with arms any attempt by a foreign power to extend protective help to her, Premier Derek Jan De Geer declared today, adding that martial law, already in effect in large areas, would be applied to the whole country.

In an address broadcast to Holland's East Indies and West Indies colonies as well as to the homeland, the premier said that the refusal to accept protection of outside powers applied also to the overseas possession and that protection was rejected whether "forced on us or laid down in a promise."

De Geer declared it was "out of the question for The Netherlands to discuss with either of the belligerents the supposed possibility of attack by the other party."

"We don't need arrangements," he said. "We shy from them as they would weaken our neutrality."

As a result of the strengthening of Netherlands defenses, the prime minister said, "no belligerent needs to fear being attacked by surprise through our territory." Whoever enters our country to attack from here an enemy lying behind will find his way obstructed in the most drastic manner."

Extension of martial law, he explained, "was to anchor more solidly the government position."

Strategic areas of land and sea were placed under martial law last Nov. 1 and an extension decreed April 13 included areas of all provinces. The largest cities—Amsterdam, The Hague and Rotterdam—heretofore have been excluded.

Searches already have been carried out by police for illegal firearms.

3 CERTIFIED FOR CITY POLICE JOB

One To Be Chosen To Fill Vacancy in Force.

The names of three men eligible to be appointed to the police department to fill the vacancy created by the recent retirement of Patrolman Howard Andrews were certified today to Safety-Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell by the city civil service commission. Those certified and their grades are:

Alfred Kohberger of 7 Hughes court, 92.5 per cent; Thomas Temple of 208 Kensington place, 88.23; Marion Tatham of 210 Elm street, 87.25.

The three names were taken from an eligibility list established last summer following a civil service examination. Three other new patrolmen were appointed from the list last summer.

Mr. Caldwell said the appointment probably will be made next week. Under civil service procedure he may appoint any of the three.

GIRL, 16, HELD FOLLOWING BREAK-IN AT GROCERY

Admits Taking Change From Cash Drawer of Park St. Store.

A 16-year-old colored girl was being held at the county detention home today after she admitted breaking into the Lewis grocery at 426 Park street about 2 a. m. today and taking approximately $3 in change from the cash drawer, police reported.

The girl was arrested by Capt. Ora DeWees and Patrolman Lewis Cunningham a few minutes after the break-in. Police reported that after admitting the theft during questioning at the police station, the girl took the officers to her home where she had hidden the money.

The police were called by Mrs. Blanche Lewis, owner of the store, who said she was awakened by noises in the store but by the time the officers arrived the intruder had left. Mrs. Lewis' home is in the same building as the store.

Officers reported that entrance was gained by breaking down the front door with an iron crate which had been left in front of the building.

Marion Host To Traffic Club of Central Ohio

New Officers Announced and Installed; President of Ohio Northern University Speaks.

Here for their 14th annual dinner meeting last night, more than 125 members of the Central Ohio Traffic club installed officers for 1940 and heard an analysis of the present European conflict by Dr. Robert Williams, president of Ohio Northern university at Ada.

The meeting, held in the ballroom at Hotel Harding, was attended by shipping and transportation executives from throughout Ohio. There were several visitors from other states.

Heading the list of officers whose elections were announced last night is Ronald M. Boffenmyer, traffic manager of the Dr. Hess & Clark Co. of Ashland, who succeeds W. J. Brennan of Cleveland. Other executive officers installed are C. D. Smith of Cleveland, first vice president; E. L. Morgan of Shelby, second vice president; and R. L. Alger of Mansfield, secretary - treasurer.

The new board of governors is composed of I. R. James of Marion, traffic manager of Old Fort Mills Inc.; Forest Gail, traffic manager of the American Steel Abrasives Co. of Galion; Raymond Seitz, traffic manager of the Detwiler Manufacturing Co. of Galion; R. E. Chell of Cleveland, E. S. Merlin of Mansfield and H. A. Webb of Toledo.

All the officers were recently elected by mail ballots.

Succeeds Cleveland Man

Mr. Boffenmyer succeeds W. J. Brennan, general agent of the Reading Railroad Co. at Cleveland, as head of the club.

In the principal address on the banquet program, Dr. Williams traced the background of the present European war and discussed the patterns which the war has followed thus far.

Describing Germany's invasion of Scandinavia as "Hitler's first serious mistake since the war began," he expressed the opinion that the move was forced upon Germany by the Allies' strategy of slowing the pace of the war. The latest "blitzkrieg" may prove to be the decisive engagement in the war, he declared, since the Allies apparently have flanked the German expeditionary forces and gained control of the Baltic Sea for the first time since the war began.

"One of the peculiarities of Hitler's position in Germany is that he cannot stand still," he declared. "Once he has started on a line of action or a conquest, he must keep going at a good pace or else fall in almost immediate defeat.

SENATOR WANTS OLD SHIPS MODERNIZED

Would Bring Three Dreadnaughts Up to Date.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 19—The three dreadnaughts which the navy rates unfit for sea warfare should be modernized, Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.) said today, before congress grants funds for the construction of any more capital ships.

Byrnes, chairman of the naval appropriations subcommittee, said he intended to seek $6,000,000 to restore the fighting efficiency of the New York, Texas and Arkansas by increasing the range of their big guns.

The present limited range of the guns, Admiral Harold R. Stark testified earlier this week, makes the battleships of no value in a modern sea battle.

ARRANGES FOR MAY 14 VOTE

Mill and a Half Sought for Relief, Mill for Fire Department.

Marionites will vote on two special tax levies at the May 14 primaries—a mill and a half for relief and a mill for improving the fire department's facilities.

City council voted unanimously in a special meeting last night at city hall to place both levies on the ballot after hearing expressions of opinion from various groups. Generally speaking, no group or individual appearing before council has expressed out and out opposition to either levy.

Mayor Sharp, however, told council and its audience recently that he did not believe now is a proper time to submit a relief levy. The mayor spoke of possible liberalization in federal or state relief policies, this being an election year with officials eager to curry favor of voters.

Alternatives Discussed

Before the vote was taken on the relief levy last night, Councilman Don R. Biggert went into a lengthy discussion of what courses would be open to the city for financing if the levy fails. Among his suggestions as alternatives to the levy were:

1. Economizing. Possible reduction in police and fire department salaries or personnel or both. Other retrenchments. Use of general fund money to meet relief needs.

2. Legalized gambling which would be heavily taxed by the city as a rich source of revenue. Tax on theater admissions.

3. Occupational tax—as a last resort.

The city's original intention had been to propose only the fire department levy, but expressions of opinion, chiefly from labor groups, led to the proposing of the relief levy. Spokesmen for C.I.O. groups have pledged their support to both levies and John Zuck, president of the Marion Central Labor Union (A. F. of L.), has declared himself in favor of supporting both issues.

Proposed for 5 Years

Both levies are proposed for two years. If they are passed, collection probably would begin with the December real estate taxes.

The relief levy would mean an extra tax of $1.80 on each $1,000 worth of property in the city and the fire levy an extra tax of $1 on each $1,000 worth of property.

The city's present tax rate is $17.30 per $1,000. If both levies pass the rate would jump to $19.80 per $1,000. Last year the rate was $19.

The relief levy would raise about $48,000 a year and the fire department levy about $32,000. Officials believe both would be adequate for the city's needs.

The relief levy would require a 55 per cent favorable vote and the fire department levy 66 per cent.

Today was the last day to propose levies for consideration at the primaries, according to the understanding of city officials.

The relief levy is the outgrowth of a long-standing relief financing problem. Last January the city proposed a .9 of a mill relief levy which was defeated along with a 1.5-mill levy for WPA. Since then the relief department has been hobbling along the best it could and is now in the red.

Would Watch State Funds

The funds from the relief levy would be used for matching state relief grants, which usually amount to less than 40 per cent of the total relief costs. The city can use the funds directly for food and fuel and other necessities for relief clients and it can also spend for certain types of WPA projects which produce goods or services for relief clients.

The fire department levy is essentially also the result of a long-standing problem, which was brought to a head recently by a letter from the National Board of Fire Underwriters to cause increase rates unless improvements recommended by the bureau were made. Among the improvements pointed out by the fire underwriters, other than equipment, were improvements to the fire alarm system. It would not cover addition of eight new firemen recommended by the National Board. The city is deferring action on these proposals pending outcome of votes on the question of the 72-hour week and following the of the new fire-

AAA INSPECTION OF STORED CORN ENDS

15,679 Bushels All Graded at No. 3 or Better.

Every bushel of the 15,679 bushels of 1937 and 1938 corn under seal or in storage under the AAA farm program in Marion county has been inspected and graded at No. 3 or better, C. P. Harper, county AAA chairman, reported today. The inspections, made periodically, were just completed by corn loan sealers and inspectors of the county.

Corn grading No. 3 or better is accepted by the commodity credit corporation in settlement of corn loans. The corn had been sealed or stored as security for loans granted to farmers.

The 1937 and 1938 corn was graded as follows: No. 1, 40 per cent; No. 2, 37 per cent; No. 3, 23 per cent. The grades depend upon the amount of moisture in the grain and also on the general condition of the corn.

Principal damage to the corn in the county came from rats, Mr. Harper said. About two per cent of the corn was damaged by the rodents.

The corn was stored in steel bins or stored in farms throughout the county as a part of the government's ever-normal granary program. In addition to the 1937 and 1938 corn, farmers of the county have 22,779 bushels of 1939 corn under AAA loans.

Mr. Harper viewed the inspection report as an indication of the excellence of the quality of corn produced in Marion county and the fine conditions under which it is being kept.

Little Spitfire — By Jean Randall

THUS FAR: Ashley tells Brenda he intends to be utterly ruthless in his campaign to win Alaine, marrying Ned. He points out that Ned is supporting another woman. Brenda offers to find out the truth.

CHAPTER 14

Maud

WHAT shall I do about it all?" Brenda asked Hugh Saltus.

"What you do anything? Better not, little Brenda. Trying to help other people gets you into the devil of a mess sometimes. I knew a man once," he went on deliberately, "who tried to do something to help another person—something that cost him quite a bit of time and trouble, to say nothing of money—and the reward he got for it was to lose the—the affection and respect of the—the only person he cared a single whoop for in this rotten old world!"

Brenda's hands gripped each other tightly in her lap. Was Hugh telling his own story? Surely he wouldn't put so much emphasis, so much bitterness, in a tale which had to do with another! She hoped with all her heart he would go on, but he merely laid aside his pencil and flung himself down in a chair, both hands clasped wearily behind his head.

"But I'm already in it," she ventured presently. "That is, I've told Alaine I'd talk to her about Ned, and Ned that I'd do my best for him with Alaine. I can't just shrug the whole thing off my shoulders like this, Hugh!"

"Then talk to Mac about it," he advised. "You say Mac saw the—the incriminating deed. Also Mac's got sense. Lots of it, little Brenda. Sometimes you don't realize that, do you?"

Here he was on firm ground. "Now let me tell you something, Hugh! I know that in our best fiction—our worst, too, if it comes to that!—the hero and heroine of a romance always start out by being bitter enemies. Mac and I made a swell beginning along those lines. But this story's not going to be like that," she informed him sternly. "In the first place, Isobel Burke's simply mad about him—and don't think he doesn't know it! Wedding bells are going to ring on The Shortest Street within the year, but the name of the bride isn't going to be Brenda Burnham!"

"And in the second place ——" he suggested.

"In the second place, Mac's antagonism to me—or mine to him—is the real thing. There's no underlying feeling of romance, or attraction—anything like that. I just plain don't like him and I more than suspect that he'd enjoy his happy home—or Adelaide's happy home—a lot more if I suddenly packed my trunk and departed for parts unknown."

"Methinks the damsel—"

"I shall throw something if you say 'doth protest too much!'"

"The second pillow to your right—the green one—is the best for throwing purposes—" the artist said.

'A Real Chat'

Maud Van Ness telephoned to ask Brenda for luncheon.

"But you simply mustn't refuse," she protested. "Doctor"—she invariably gave her father his professional title—"is so eager to talk over old times with you. We won't keep you long. It's only a step, you know, across the lawns. At one, then. Now don't disappoint us!"

"I suppose I must go?" Brenda demanded gloomily of her landlady.

"Oh, I think so, my dear. Maud's very sensitive. No one knows just what does hurt her feelings sometimes. You won't have to stay long—I hope," she added.

"I shall be home by two-thirty," was Brenda's affirmed determination.

But as it turned out it was almost four when she wearily crossed the lawns and ascended the stairs to her own room. It had been a trying social experience, if one could call anything so dismal by that festive name.

To begin with Dr. VanNess was absent. His daughter made excuse and apology for him, but Brenda suspected that from the beginning she had known he could not be there. The meal itself was so hearty as almost to constitute a dinner: soup, roast, salad, dessert, coffee. Brenda felt positively torpid as they left the table, but Miss VanNess seemed stimulated by the enormous quantities of food she had consumed.

"What keeps her from getting fat?" Brenda wondered. "She's bony as a bed-slat and yet if she eats like this every day—" She gave it up with a sigh. There were mysteries on The Street far beyond her understanding.

"Now," said Maud coyly, "we can talk! I've been longing for a real chat with you."

Brenda eyed her severely. Miss VanNess would never see fifty again. She had small eyes of an indeterminate color, hair that slithered and slipped about a head too small for it, a chin which receded until it was almost no chin at all.

"I want so much to ask your advice," went on the hostess. "We lead such a secluded life here on The Street that I...My dear, I suppose you've had scads of Proposals?" She pronounced the word with such a mixture of solemnity and relish that Brenda had hard work to bite back a smile.

"Not—scads exactly."

"But some? A few? Even one?" She leaned forward anxiously.

"Yes," the girl admitted. "A... few."

"Then, dearie, you're the one to advise me." Miss VanNess clasped her hands together tightly. "You see living on this street is almost like being on an island. We—at least the women folks—see very few other people than our neighbors. And until you came I've been the only young woman—"

"There's Alaine Abernathy," Brenda reminded her. "And Isobel"

"Alaine is a child. She knows nothing of romance. Isobel—poor Isobel, I fear, will never stir men's hearts. She's too homely."

Brenda said with spirit: "I don't think she's homely at all! Her skin is lovely, and her mouth—"

Maud VanNess waved Isobel away impatiently.

"I asked her once if she'd ever had a proposal and she said no. So that rules her out. Please, Brenda, let's don't waste time. The doctor may return earlier than—earlier than usual. I want to consult you. I must consult you!"

'A Little Shy'

"Yes?" Brenda was beginning to feel a little bored. She considered she had done her full duty by remaining here for lunch. She wanted to get home and to work on her book. But plainly this unattractive woman had something which weighed heavily on her mind; something about which she erroneously believed her caller could advise her.

Maud began to pleat her handkerchief. It was an affair of pink chiffon, about as unsuitable to a September afternoon as could be imagined.

"It's about Judge Harper," she began in a low voice. "He—he's been in love with me for years, Brenda."

The girl could not restrain a start of surprise. Dignified Judge Harper with his silvery hair and somewhat stiff gait, was the last man on The Street she would have connected with the grand passion. And to have fallen in love with Maud VanNess! Horrified, she heard her own voice asking:

"Are you sure?"

Maud bridled. "Most certainly I'm sure! He's—he's done everything but tell me about it, I assure you. There have been times"—she sighed—"you will understand me, my dear, when I tell you that there have been times when his devotion has been positively embarrassing."

"What did you wish to ask me, Miss Van Ness?"

"Say Maud, dear! We're friends already, don't you feel it? Oh, I was going to consult you wasn't I?" The big handkerchief began to move swiftly in her hands; swiftly and nervously. "It's—it's—how do you bring a man to the point of proposing, Brenda?" she shot at her guest suddenly.

Brenda's dimples came into view, she dropped her lashes to hide the laughter in her eyes.

"But I thought you said his devotion was—"

"It is! Oh, it is! Others besides myself have noticed it! But the dear judge is a little shy. He can't quite bring himself to the point of asking me to marry him."

Brenda swallowed. Judge Harper shy! This was farce of an unbelievable quality.

"And will you accept him if he does—bring himself to the point?"

The handkerchief was now being wrung like a dishcloth. ("It will never be fit to use again, thank goodness!" Brenda mused.)

"Oh, yes, dear. I think so. He's so alone, the poor dear man; and he's cared for me so long and faithfully. Even before his wife died—" she began, then stopped, significant eyes on the girl's face.

"Some—some years. Twenty-eight or nine, I believe. I was, of course, a mere child then; unconscious of what...but others have told me since."

Operation of Social Security Law Explained in Talk to Kiwanis Club

Typical Cases Cited To Show How Benefit Payments Operate; Questions of Members Answered.

...visions of the federal old-... survivors insurance pro-... were explained by Harold ..., manager of the social ... office here, at a lunch-... meeting of the Marion Kiwanis ... Hotel Marion yesterday. ...ussing the history and back-... of the social security ...ment in United States, Mr. ... declared that this coun-... about 40 years behind Euro-... countries in providing unemployment insurance and old age benefits. This is due to the fact that until recent years America has had frontiers that served to absorb unemployment and to minimize the need for social security programs, he said.

It was not until the depression started in 1929, the speaker went on, that American leaders began to realize the need for a security program for workers.

"At that time about 65 per cent of the people in America became dependent upon public or private charity and political and economic leaders realized there should be some method of arranging for their wants before the need appeared."

Calls Program Sound

Pointing out that "none of the people connected with the social security program believe the present plan is perfect," Mr. Kramer expressed the opinion that "it is a step in the right direction" and that the program is fundamentally sound in principle.

He explained that any worker, employed in a field covered by the social security program, is eligible to receive monthly payments upon retirement any time after the age of 65 and that his wife, widow and other members of the family may receive additional benefits under certain conditions.

To illustrate, he computed the benefits that would be paid in the case of an imaginary worker retiring at the age of 65 and who has worked steadily since Jan. 1937 for an average wage of $100 a month.

The worker himself would receive a monthly payment of $26 and his wife, if she is 65 or over, would receive an additional payment of $13. In the event the couple has any children under the age of 18, they would receive monthly payments of $13 for each child until the child became 18. However, in no event could the amount exceed $52 a month, or twice the amount which the worker himself was eligible to receive.

Widow's Benefit Continues

If the worker should die, the widow would continue receiving the payment of $13 a month for herself and similar payments for the children, Mr. Kramer explained.

Mr. Kramer then altered the illustration to fit the case of a man 29 who has just died after working steadily at an average monthly wage of $100 since the social security law became effective in 1937. The man left a young widow and two small children.

In this case the widow would receive $19.50 a month plus $13 a month for each child until the youngest child reached the age of 18. Then the widow's pension would stop until she reached the age of 65 when the payments of $19.50 a month would be resumed.

During the discussion period which followed, a member of the club asked if payments would continue if the young widow remarried and Mr. Kramer explained that all payments are stopped when a widow remarries, not only her own pension but the amounts she would normally receive for dependent children.

Dual Pensions Possible

Another member asked if it is possible to obtain a social security pension and a pension from some other source, such as a mother's pension and the like. Mr. Kramer explained that it would be possible, explaining that mother's pensions and similar forms of aid are based entirely on need and that the double payment could be made if those in charge of administering the mother's pension plan believe the social security pension is inadequate. He also explained that it would be possible for an individual who worked for a number of years in private industry and then began teaching school to receive pensions under both the social security and teacher's retirement plans.

Another member raised the question of whether there is any assurance that payments can always be made regularly and promptly in the future, to which Mr. Kramer replied that the social security law assures future payments by requiring congress to appropriate the necessary funds five years in advance. The amount to be appropriated by congress is set by a social security board composed of trained statisticians and research works who can estimate how much will be needed to finance the plan five years in advance.

Mr. Kramer was introduced by J. J. Huebner, who presided.

GREEN CAMP, April 19 — A talk by E. N. Nesper of the Delaware office of the state highway department regarding work on Route 739 and in particular that part of the route passing through here and election of officers featured the meeting of the Green Camp Commercial club Wednesday night at the school. A banquet was served in the school cafeteria.

Clifford C. Smith was re-elected president; William D. Carr, vice president, succeeding Marvin Weston; George W. Sorreles, secretary, succeeding Dana G. Barber, and Frank Noggle, treasurer, succeeding Arthur A. Haberman.

Mr. Nesper explained the WPA setup and the connection with the state highway department, and the allocation of men, money and supplies. He reviewed the work thus far on the route and what the department hopes to accomplish in the next 60 days.

President Smith appointed Floyd T. Uncapher, C. D. Reynolds and himself as a committee to cooperate with the street and alley committee of the council in securing the desired improvement through the village.

It was announced that free motion pictures, sponsored by the merchants, would be shown again this summer starting April 29.

Talks were given by W. D. Carr and Kenneth Levering, new businessmen in the community. Mr. Carr will soon open a meat market and Mr. Levering operates a bowling alley.

The club was unanimous in approving the suggestion that the corn festival be held this fall.

There was considerable discussion on the question of repeating the pageant "America, Yours and Mine" presented last fall. Short talks were given by Floyd T. Uncapher, J. D. Chard, Cameron Casto, Ivan Barnhart, A. A. Haberman and Mr. Smith.

C. I. O. WINS VICTORY IN AUTO ELECTIONS

Lewis Group Is Favored by Workers in 48 Plants.

Special to The Star

DETROIT, April 19 — A new course for collective bargaining in the plants of the nation's largest automobile manufacturer was charted today after a decisive C.I.O. victory over an A.F.L. industrial union in Wednesday's General Motors employes' election.

The United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), by winning elections in 48 G. M. plants, gained the right to bargain for more than 120,000 of the corporation's hourly wage earners.

Five plants, with 6,527 workers certified to the national labor relations board, selected the A.F.L.-affiliated United Automobile Workers to represent them.

Although individual plants were designated as separate bargaining units, the corporation agreed to negotiate with each union for all the plants it won on "issues common to all" such plants.

Leaders of the two unions, which have battled each other for members since the original U.A.W. split into the two groups more than a year ago, indicated they would press for negotiations to amend the basic G. M. contract. Each union plans to demand a general wage increase, vacations with pay, recognition of shop stewards, and seniority and overtime clauses.

R. J. Thomas, president of the U.A.W.-C.I.O., said "the overwhelming number of eligible voters who took advantage of their right to vote should be a silent indication to politicians bent on destroying the (Wagner) act that the mass of the workers is solidly behind the act."

At Washington, John L. Lewis, C.I.O. chieftain, hailed the selection of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. in most plants as "a triumph for industrial unionism."

The U.A.W.-C.I.O. received 84,024 or approximately 68 per cent of the valid votes, the U.A.W.-A.F.L. 25,911 or 21 per cent, and 11 per cent of the workers expressed a preference for neither union.

Comment from A.F.L. sources was lacking.

Spinster Reveals Sister Was Married to a John Leslie.

ANY question the old woman's face was suddenly ...wed with something very ...shame.

...e from her eyes was the ex... interest which had made ...starry. They were more like ...marbles now.

...m afraid I can explain that, ...e said, "although I thought ...a chapter in my life that I ...thankfully closed years ago. I ...hidden it where no one ...possibly be injured by it, ...now, I can see, the truth must ...old."

...ined not to betray the keen ...shment I felt at her words.

I had expected to learn of a secret ingress to the farmhouse, but this projected revelation was almost too much for me. What did this sheltered old woman know of the gang threatening our safety?

That she read my thoughts I realized when her face suddenly flushed crimson.

Surprising Turn

"No! No!" she exclaimed explosively. "You must not think that I know anything of what those men, your enemies, are doing."

"Oh! Miss Carman!" I protested emphatically. "We know that could not be true."

"Thank you," she said. "But, nevertheless, there is something I must tell you which may throw some light on the subject. But first I must ask you some questions."

"Of course," I assured her.

She waited for several seconds, evidently arranging her words carefully.

"You have spoken," she said finally, "of a leader of the men arrayed against you, who, you think, is insane. From the fact that you say he is infatuated with your niece, I conclude that he is comparatively young. You say also that he was a college man. Do you know his name, and would you be willing to tell it to me?"

What Does She Know?

The feeling of unreality deepened, but my voice was steady as I answered her.

"Yes to both questions," I answered. "His name is Jack Leslie."

The flush receded from her face, leaving it deathly pale. She leaned back in her chair and closed here eyes. I flashed a silent question to Lillian, and at her vigorous nod, leaned forward and laid my fingers lightly upon Miss Carman's wrist. Her eyes flew open, and she looked at me with a wintry smile.

"I haven't swooned," she said. "My heart is in fairly good shape, but I thank you for your concern. Please give me a minute or two more, then I shall be able to explain things to you."

"Please don't hurry," I begged, and she closed here eyes again. When she next opened them, they were still distressed but resolute, and unconsciously I braced myself to hear what she might have to tell me.

Family History

"I shall have to go back a long way," she said, "to my girlhood, in order that you may understand.

"There were but two children who lived to maturity in our family," she went on after a short pause, "my older sister and myself. Our parents both died when we were in our early twenties, and a year or two afterward my sister married, against the advice of every one who knew her, a man named John Leslie."

Both Lillian and I have cultivated "poker faces," but they were not proof against the unexpected utterance of that name. We both started perceptibly.

"Ah! I see you begin to see what I mean," Miss Carman said. "My sister did not live very long after her marriage, but long enough to find out that her husband, who had represented himself as a single man when courting her, was in reality a widower with a small son, also called John. She also found out that there was insanity in his family. Indeed, some years after her death he was adjudged insane and sent to an asylum, where he later died. The care of his son had been mine for several years, but when he was grown I tried in vain, on account of his heredity, to dissuade him from marriage, but he would not listen, and married a beautiful young girl who died in childbirth, leaving the third John Leslie, who, I greatly fear, is the man who is your enemy."

The Men Out in Front

TWO relatively unknown men will be out in front when the Republican national convention convenes—Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, as keynoter and temporary chairman, and Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, as permanent chairman. Their selection by the party's arrangements committee is an important incident in the story of Republican organization for another tussle with the opposition.

Gov. Stassen at 33 is a newcomer to politics, but has the advantage of doing his newcoming in a middle western state with a tradition of liberalism. He is said to be an excellent speaker, an essential quality in the age of fireside listening. His youth qualifies him as a symbol of rejuvenation, essential in an age of political restlessness.

Rep. Martin, minority leader in the house, has won his spurs as an organizer. Even the opposition respects his extraordinary talent for patience and detail in creating an effectual legislative opposition. It is said that under him Republicans are better organized than at any time since the almost frictionless days of the late Nicholas Longworth. Rep. Martin's 55 years balance Gov. Stassen's 33.

Traditionally, the choice of temporary chairman of a national convention shows which way the wind is blowing. Into the two top positions in the Republican national convention have been blown two men whose names were unknown to the country at large as recently as a year ago. That is far from the usual direction of the big wind in politics.

Total Warfare

REP. DIES and his investigators of un-American activities may be expected to make the most of Europe's "visitor scare." Events in Denmark and Norway, where Nazis and sympathizers expedited invasion by German troops, have put every European government on guard.

Yugoslavia is expelling German "visitors" suspected of undermining the government. Great Britain is looking over its German sympathizers. Turkey has thrown out Germans. Rumania has had trouble with "Iron Guardists." Poland, Czechoslovakia and Austria were softened for the Nazi blow by subversionists in the pay of Germany.

Americans would like to think the best defense against hostile ism groups is the strength of their own pet ism—Americanism. That is sound as far as it goes. But total warfare today is carried on by civilians just as truly as it is carried on by soldiers. Undermining is an implement of belligerency, not merely the intellectual exercise of non-combatants. Governments that fail to deal realistically with this realistic development of totalitarianism are handicapping themselves. Methods of the Dies committee may be criticized, but in the light of recent developments its purpose of finding out what subversionists are up to is unassailable. They have tipped their hand by betrayal of governments that tolerated them.

A Stretch of Water

THE rumor may be wrong, but the circumstantial evidence is sound enough—

When the British admirally learned German troops were being ferried across the Skagerrak it was suspected for a terrifying interval that Scotland might be their destination.

The possibility has been in the back of every Englishman's mind since Napoleon dreamed of ferrying his army across the Straits of Dover. Napoleon couldn't see his way clear.

Another Napoleon might chance it. Moving an army to Norway was no inconsiderable feat. Moving an army from Norway to Scotland would be harder—much harder—but it might be attempted. The thought of the possibility helps explain why the Scandinavian peninsula has become the scene of the new war's first great land battle.

The Great Whatizzit

EVERY so often the navy people demand that the United States build the world's largest navy, usually when asking congress for a new appropriation. They're doing it again. The atmosphere is favorable for continuation of a shipbuilding boom at the moment.

Perhaps the question could pop up only in the mind of a drylander, but how do the navy people know the United States doesn't have the world's largest navy already?

Great Britain is assumed to be in first place, though how such things are figured out in a maze of dissimilar ships, over-age ships, cruisers with armor and guns of different sizes is a first-rate mystery.

But if the navy people read the papers they'll discover that the British navy has been whittled down considerably the last few days, suggesting that the U. S. battle fleet may be tops already.

Is it perhaps a navy larger than any country ever had before that's being demanded? There's a considerable difference.

News Behind the News

Some in New Deal Ranks Talk About War, But Don't Be Alarmed.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 19—Some outlying precincts of the New Deal are beginning to bristle with the war spirit, but don't get your gun down yet.

These unofficial salvos hinting at or prophesying United States participation may prove to be of more interest to Mussolini than to anyone else. At least a lot of top ranking American diplomats, noticing the diversion Il Duce is promoting for Hitler through the Italian press, have been thinking it would be an excellent thing if the United States could do the same thing for the Allies. The only trouble is the open war sentiment in a democracy carries inescapable conviction if not commitments.

Paul Mallon

People are apt to believe it, whereas in Italy the press gallery slaves row forward or backward as directed.

Consequently any bristling planned here will be kept as far as possible from the White House or official quarters.

The way Mussolini has been whipping up his press onrsmen lately has led the world to believe Il Duce is getting ready to jump some place. As the dictators have a recognized preference of picking on the weakest nations as objects of their aggression, there is a feeling here in high quarters that if he picks any he may pick Jugoslavia.

This suspicion is bolstered by inner reports that he has been encouraging the Croats there against the Serbs and Slovenes in their agitation for autonomy.

It could be Greece, but the Greeks are apt to put up a struggle and are nowhere near as weak internally as the Slavs. Further, Jugoslavia offers Italy an opportunity to drive a wedge against Russian aggression from the other side of the Balkans in Roumania.

G.O.P.

A heavy convention tussle for the Republican nomination was foreseen by most of the party sages who foregathered for the arrangements committee meeting in Philadelphia. In the privacy of their executive meeting more than a majority seemed agreed there will be a lot of bulloling. Their opinion dovetails fully with that of the party authorities here in both the house and senate.

This means Mr. Dewey is not going to run away with the show. It is also particularly good news to the dark horses.

Preparedness

The administration is all ready to freeze Swedish, Dutch, and Belgian investments in the United States as soon as the Nazis cross these borders.

Through mistake when the refrigeration orders were being prepared for Danish and Norwegian funds by the treasury, an order for Sweden was also written out. It was not issued but officials then decided to prepare others on a hold-for-release basis.

Checker

Disputes about what President Roosevelt actually has told congressmen or advisers in personal conferences in the executive office may seldom arise if Mr. Roosevelt uses a device he has been given.

Some time ago the President was given for trial a conversation recording machine. It turns on and off with a switch, operating for weeks at a time without requiring refilling of the film. Through an attachment he is able to refer back at any time, either to his own conversation or that of a caller, by simply replaying that portion of the recording.

Parade

Dark horse Governor James of Pennsylvania is contemplating stepping out of the dark. Two more speeches may be arranged for him beyond the impending Indiana Editorial association address. These may carry him to the far west. No national organization will be started for him, however.

Lasting

New dealers are manifesting a new interest in Senator Wheeler. One of the President's official economic ghosts arranged to meet the Montana senator for the first time the other day. Their conference lasted so long they had to send out for lunch.

Other more politically active new dealers have been manifesting renewed interest lately in Mayor LaGuardia. This interest in other candidates has apparently been whetted by the continued lack of information from the White House as to Mr. Roosevelt's intentions. The LaGuardia move, however, will not free them of their miseries. Postmaster General Farley stopped an earlier more formidable movement toward LaGuardia with a public announcement that no one except a Democrat could be considered for the nomination.

A Nice, Quiet Job

It Was That at First for Daisy Harriman—but Not Now.

MRS. J. BORDEN HARRIMAN
First woman to represent U. S. in war zone.

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — "Madame Minister" Daisy Borden Harriman, minister to Norway, is rattling around somewhere in Scandinavia. She's 70, and trying to keep up a line of communication between this country and the fugitive Norwegian government.

It's the first time the United States has been represented officially in a war zone by a woman.

She's "Never Felt Better"

She missed death at one spot by half an hour. She fled down roads under bombardment by German planes. She got over the Swedish border just long enough to phone news to our minister in Sweden. Then she popped back into the danger zone, after assuring Stockholm in her Park Avenue voice, "Never felt better in my life."

That rings two loud bells for all the women in this country who want to hold public jobs. First, the state department never has liked women in diplomatic posts. Second, there is still apprehension among men politicos over the way women will react under fire.

Mrs. Harriman's appointment to Norway was really a sop thrown to the thousands of Democratic women who worked through the '32 and '36 campaigns.

Oslo Was A Quiet Spot

When her friend, Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, then our only woman diplomat, resigned her post in Denmark, Democrats cast around for another woman to appoint. The Oslo post fell vacant. It was a quiet, safe spot. The Scandinavians have no prejudice against women executives. So Mrs. Harriman was appointed.

"Would you consider the post?" she was asked.

"Certainly," she said. "Who wouldn't?"

The Norwegians—fact is, the whole diplomatic corps in Oslo—were soon revolving around Daisy, just the way Washingtonians have for years. She went to palace dinners; acted as hostess for bachelor diplomats from other countries; learned the language rapidly. And at 67 decided to take up skiing. Her progress was watched affectionately.

She made one amusing diplomatic faux pas just ten minutes after she was sworn in here. Just the sort of thing that suave men diplomats tremble over.

Started With Faux Pas

She was asked: "Will you negotiate a trade agreement between Norway and the United States?"

"That's been done," she said.

It was the first any one knew of it. She must have been chagrined. But she didn't do any

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, April 19, 1930.

The committee appointed to arrange for Marion's Memorial Day observance organized by electing T. E. Andrews of the Spanish War veterans chairman, C. M. Boye of the American Legion vice chairman, C. C. Caldwell of the American Legion secretary and Lee Howison of the Spanish War Veterans treasurer.

Will Rogers in his weekly newspaper article, said, "You know one of the most welcome things that has hit us in many a moon is the return of long dresses." His comment was that "skirts had just gone so high there wasn't anything to em and the material people put up a howl. Men had just about lost interest in em or below em."

Fred E. Guthery accepted an invitation to attend an organization meeting of the Ohio branch of the League of Nations association to be held in Dayton. He was a member of the state committee.

Miss Helen Louise Carhart, setudent at Ohio Wesleyan university, was here to spend Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Carhart of Franklin street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Johnson and children of Youngstown arrived to spend Easter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson of North State street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, April 19, 1920.

The most important meeting of the inter-Allied supreme council since the peace conference in Paris ended opened at San Remo with no representative from the United States present.

A Washington dispatch reported that a nationwide roundup of profiteers within the next 30 days had been scheduled by the department of justice. It was said prosecutions would cover food, fuel and clothing dealers.

A benefit entertainment was given at the Grand theater under sponsorship of the King's Daughters to help raise funds for the King's Daughters' new home for dependent girls at Bucyrus. The program included a motion picture, "The Stolen Kiss" starring Constance Binney and selections by the Central American marimba band.

At a meeting of the city board of education a communication was read from the Marion Circle, Child's Conservation League, asking the board to approve a campaign to raise funds for employment of a school nurse. The board members expressed themselves as favoring employing a nurse but felt the board should pay the salary and have complete control of the work done by the nurse.

Dr. A. M. Stevenson of Kenton was elected moderator of the Marion Presbytery in the spring meeting of that body held at the Presbyterian church in Mt. Gilead.

A Harding for President Women's club was organized in Bucyrus in a meeting held at the Elks club there with Mrs. James Hopley in charge of arrangements. Mrs. J. E. Faulkner was elected chairman, Mrs. Perce Holmes first vice president, Mrs. R. O. Parrott, second vice president, Mrs. Charles Michaels, third vice president, Mrs. Rufus Kennedy, secretary, Mrs. W. P. Newmans, treasurer and Mrs. C. A. Lingenfelter assistant treasurer. Mrs. James B. Guthery, Mrs. Frank C. Hughs, Mrs. C. E. Sawyer and Mrs. George B. Knapp, all of Marion, were guests at the luncheon.

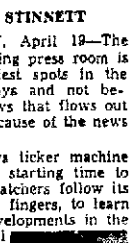
Jefferson Statue Trouble Flares Up Over Models.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, April 19—The Navy building press room is one of the busiest spots in the capital these days and not because of the news that flows out of there—but because of the news that flows in.

There's a news ticker machine there and, from starting time to curfew, eager watchers follow its hammering type fingers, to learn of the latest developments in the Allied-Nazi naval battles in the North Sea.



Jack Stinnett

The reason: There has been no such opportunity for students of naval maneuvers to kibitz since the World war. Oddly enough, the white collar employes—civilian clerks—are just as thick around the news barrel as the navy men—and discuss the battle problems with just as much outward authority.

Memorial Trouble

The Thomas Jefferson memorial is in trouble again. The memorial commission, looking over a hundred designs for the statue of Jefferson, turned up their noses at all of them, but finally said the model submitted by Lee Lawrie, New York sculptor, which "on first glance is disappointing because of the inadequacy of the likeness and of the detailed forms in the legs and hands, and the extreme emaciation of the figure" —undoubtedly would be all right when these points were developed.

With this doubtful enthusiasm, although they said complimentary things about the possibilities of Mr. Lawrie's completed statue when it is set up in the Memorial in the Tidal Basin, the commission recommended Mr. Lawrie's design, awarded funds for an additional "revised sketch model."

From its inception the Jefferson Memorial has been bumping into difficulties. The original proposal to place it in the Tidal Basin, which is flanked by the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington monument, brought a storm of protest, with claims that it would spoil the beauty of the basin and destroy the famous cherry trees.

The White House was picketed by women, bearing placards with such designs as: "Oh Congress, Spare that Tree," and "Hasten, hasten, spare the Basin." White House police compared it to the wars of the suffragettes. One indignant lady chained herself to a tree. A group, equally indignant, had a better idea—it chained one of the workmen to a tree.

Not until President assured the ladies that not only would all the trees be spared, but nearly a thousand more would be planted, did the furore die down. Even then, the fight over the memorial site continued in congress until after the cornerstone was laid.

It is expected now that the $60,000 bronze statue will be ready to dedicate in the $3,000,000 marble shrine in time for the bicentennial of Jefferson's birth April 13, 1943—that is, barring more trouble.

The United States Senators are three-bell boys. Whenever one of the gentlemen from so-and-so wants to use the elevators, he rings three times and no matter who's going which way, he must detour to take the senator to his destination—that is, of course, unless some other senator has gotten the elevator first. It's the same with the subway from the Capitol to the senate office building. If you are halfway over and a senator rings three from the rear, back you go. This theory that a senator's time is more valuable than any one else's is practiced only in the Capitol, however. In the buildings downtown, three rings only get a senator a dirty look—just as in the case of any ordinary mortal.

Scandinavian Investments

Thought for today: The commerce department reports that United States investors have a $221,000,000 stake in the Scandinavian countries, Sweden, Denmark and Norway—a little more than enough to take care of next year's parity payments to the farmers.

The day Hitler took over Denmark, marched on Norway and threatened again to shake up the borders of the western world, the National Geographic society started issuing a million new 10-color maps of Europe and the Near East. The society's harried mapmakers scanned the headlines, found some consolation in the fact that they might not have to change the colors. (Only if Germany absorbed and seized territory and called it Germany, as in the cases of Austria and parts of Poland, would color changes be necessary.)

This seems to be a variation of the "laughing room," which is an adjunct to many establishments in New York City and elsewhere. Extra high-toned restaurants and night clubs and even a few mercantile enterprises have them. The "laughing room" originated largely by accident years ago at a place called the El Fay club in New York during the prohibition era.

It was conducted by a chap named Fay, who afterward departed this life neglecting to let a slug give him a mi late Texas Guinan and her troupe of ful young damsels first came to gener lic notice there, and for a spell the ci packed nightly by the youth and chiv New York City. Once he laughed s over a $3,400 tab that a waiter failed a customer ordering more wine. Thereu Fay's associates prevailed upon him to a remote room to do his laughing.

They would send the tabs to him and sometimes, it is said, Mr. Fay wou up an evening completely limp and h from laughing. The room came to be as the "laughing room." Bill Walsh, ca the floor crew, used to go in there a Mr. Fay laugh. Bill got so he could alm laugh Fay. HARRIMAN

...reaking. Just took the gaff, ...ained for Norway.
... first test under fire is the ... in which you need friends. ...e came through with flying ... That was the "City of Flint" incident. Remember the boat the Germans captured, took to Murmansk, Russia, and then tried to run down the Norwegian coast? From Russia we got no clear reports of the Flint's crew. Then the Germans put in at a Norwegian port. It became Mrs. Harriman's task to remind the Norwegians that the Germans had forfeited the boat by docking in a neutral port—a delicate spot for any diplomat. The Norwegians decided to return the boat to its American crew. Mrs. Harriman got an immediate report from the Flint's captain, and was the first to report to the state deparment what actually had happened.

Came The Invasion

Then came the morning of April 9. About 3 o'clock Mrs. Harriman's phone rang. The British minister was calling to ask if she'd take over his duties. The Germans were invading. He was leaving.

She rushed into her clothes and to her office. She called the Norwegian foreign office, confirmed the story, then cabled Washington. The arrival of her wire here was the first the rest of the world knew the war had broken out in earnest. There's no way of knowing yet why other offices didn't have messages as quickly. Maybe it was because Mrs. Harriman sent a straight wire stating the facts in regular English—no code.

By five she had her whole staff and their families around her, eating breakfast, and ready to set out across country to safety. It was some days later when she was heard from again—on the Swedish border phoning to report.

This is her second war. During the last one she got together a corps of 300 women volunteers and took them to France as a Red Cross motor corps.

She's a rich woman, private school graduate, had her debut at Delmonico's. At 19, she married the banker, J. Borden Harriman. She had a daughter, and for years lived a protected life. Then she began reading social problems. One day she startled her Republican family by saying that from here on she was voting Democratic. Her husband, now dead, used to laugh and say, "It's fine. It makes our dinner conversations so interesting.

Washington Liked Her Dinners

They must have been interesting. Since the 20's Mrs. Harriman has run the only true salon in Washington. She gathered for her Sunday night dinners 32 guests—the cream of the day's leaders.

Historic debates were held. She had two rules. No one could get angry. No one could repeat what they heard.

She'll hate all the hullabaloo about her now. But no story about Daisy Harriman is quite complete without mentioning something about her appearance. She hates that, too. She argued with me once that she certainly was not handsome. But she is. Her height and her erect carriage does it. So up comes the story about Charles (Hell 'n Maria) Dawes. He saw her back across a Parisian hotel lobby one night, and said, "Well, there's Mary Garden."

"No, it isn't. That's Daisy Harriman," said a friend.

"Nonsense," said Dawes. "There's only one back like that."

But it was Daisy whose busy these days proving that her backbone's straight both literally and figuratively.

"SLUSH FUND" IS G. O. P. CRY

Republicans Question Request of President To Speed WPA Spending.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 19—Administration leaders, disregarding Republican queries as to whether a "campaign slush fund" was sought, worked quietly today for speedy house approval of President Roosevelt's plan to maintain relief spending at the present $1,500,000,000-a-year rate.

They were spurred, authoritative sources said, by a White House request that congress expedite disposition of the relief issue so as not to delay its own adjournment.

In a letter to Speaker Bankhead, Mr. Roosevelt asked yesterday for discretionary authority to spend a $375,000,000 WPA appropriation in eight months, if necessary, instead of the full year as he originally recommended.

No Decrease Likely

"There is certainly at the present time," the President wrote, "no information available to justify a reduction in the progress of the work projects administration below that which has been carried on in the current fiscal year with an appropriation of approximately one and one-half billion dollars."

Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, later told reporters that the $375,000,000, if spent during the first eight months, would maintain work relief rolls at the 1940 level of about 2,000,000 persons a month.

Chairman Ditter (R-Pa.) of the Republican congressional committee said the discretionary authority sought would be "only another one of the instances so aptly defined by Justice Cardozo as 'a vagrant and unconfined power' and which, in an election year, might offer temptations that I feel certain the Democratic party would not care to deal with."

Fish Sees Slush Fund

Rep. Fish (R-NY) asked on the house floor whether "another campaign slush fund" was in the offing.

"Does it mean that another 600,000 people are going to be padded onto the payrolls during September, October and November at public expense?" he asked.

Although there was sharp conflict of opinion among members of the appropriations subcommittee considering the relief estimates, Democratic house members generally supported Mr. Roosevelt.

After three days of debate, the house yesterday overwhelmingly approved the Logan-Walter bill to provide for uniform procedure by federal administrative agencies and for speedier court review of their orders.

A truck driven by William Fred Dempsey of Akron was badly damaged when it struck a concrete bridge on Route 42 five miles south of Ashley about 7:30 a. m. today, the state patrol reported.

Mr. Dempsey told officers he swerved the truck to avoid colliding with an approaching car when was passing another auto. The impact ripped off one side of the truck, which was loaded with general freight and the merchandise was scattered along the highway.

Officers estimated damage to the truck at $100 and placed the same estimate on damage to the merchandise.

NORWAY

at encircling Trondheim and gaining control of the railway which runs southeast to the region where Norwegian forces are putting up resistance north of Oslo.

A German aerial attempt to take Namsos, 100 miles north of Trondheim, was thwarted by an allied landing party in that region, the Norwegian legation said in an oral summary of the military situation.

Nazis Still Claim Narvik

In the far north the Germans insisted they still controlled Narvik.

There were indications, however, that allied expeditionary forces were in the region although the exact status of the town was unclear.

Many civilians fled the northern ore port and severe suffering was reported among refugees whose skis were commandeered. The invading Germans brought along white uniform coverings for use in northern operations. Food and other supplies of Narvik shops were taken over by the Germans.

From both Stavanger and Bergen the Germans were fanning out as they already have from Trondheim. One Norwegian garrison in the Hegre fortress, 25 miles east of Trondheim, was continuing to resist despite pounding from German artillery and aerial bombs.

Although naval and air power in the case of Norway are all-important in supplying the rival allied and German expeditionary forces, nothing has occurred in modern warfare to disprove the classic theory of military strategists that only the infantry can win, occupy and hold a desired piece of territory.

It is with this in mind that the arm-chair experts watch the progress of the British Tommies, who according to London now are landing in Norway in force and seeking out the grey-green uniformed reichswehr troops to drive them from the country's key points, virtually all of which they occupied in a few hours with their Hitler-directed lightning coup ten days ago.

Norway Tells Story

And as Norway goes—lo the allies or lo Germany—so goes all Scandinavia, most observers agree. And possession of Scandinavia—possession in a military sense, for bases of operations—obviously may become the determining factor in the outcome of the larger war.

Germany today burned the diplomatic bridges linking her to the Norwegian government of King Haakon and Premier Johan Nygaardsvold, ordering the Norwegian minister to Berlin to leave the capital at once. The Germans cited "the hostile attitude of King Haakon," who is rallying his people to fight the Nazi invaders.

The fight for Norway seemed to be developing in three main sectors: about Narvik, the Arctic ore port at which the British presumably could land forces with the least difficulty but which is remote from the more important parts of the country; about Trondheim, western port and rail center of great strategic importance; and about Oslo, capital and key to southeastern Norway.

Operations appeared to be well spread out from these centers, with the Norwegians for the moment at least staging a fighting retreat.

The Norwegians reported that in addition they had fought the Germans near the western ports of Bergen and Stavanger—the latter now an important German air base which the British have been hammering heavily with both naval and air bombardment for several days.

Estimate on Germany

A Norwegian government official on a mission to London estimated that 2,000 German troops were being flown daily to Norway; other sources estimated 60,000 German soldiers now had reached the kingdom. There were no estimates of the British forces.

The London News - Chronicle demanded quicker action in Norway and hinted that the fighting forces were not being given free rein by "some important members of the government."

ships have a range of eight miles, as compared to 12 and 15 miles for the more modern vessels.

"I think it's a great deal more important to modernize the ships already at sea," Byrnes said, "than it is to lay down more battleships that will take four more years to build."

Meanwhile, Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) forecast speedy approval of the 11 per cent fleet expansion bill now before the senate naval committee. He pointed to the senate's 63 to 4 approval yesterday of a $963,707,478 navy outlay during the fiscal year beginning July 1. Both measures already have passed the house.

"That was the biggest vote for a navy bill in many years," Walsh said. "It reflects the sentiment of the country, which is now navy minded."

SENATE PROBE ORDERED INTO CAMPAIGN COSTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 19—The senate campaign investigating committee today ordered an investigation of complaints that "excessive sums of money" were being spent in behalf of some aspirants for the presidency.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), committee chairman, said that the complaints had been received "from apparently reliable sources."

He declined to name the candidates or the party involved but said that thus far charges affected only one party.

The committee approved a motion instructing Gillette to assign investigators to study the complaints.

"I have not yet acted," Gillette told reporters, "but I will act."

FORMER SCHOOL HEAD AT BUCYRUS TO RETIRE

By The Associated Press

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 19—William N. Beetham, registrar at Marshall college for the past 16 years, announced today he would retire in June, ending 50 years as an educator in West Virginia and Ohio schools.

A native of Harrison county, Ohio, Beetham taught for 13 years in Harrison schools, seven as a principal, then entered Mount Union college from which he was graduated in 1889. He later studied at Ohio Wesleyan where he played halfback on the football team.

Thereafter, he served as superintendent of schools and at Carrollton, Bucyrus, O., and Wellsburg, W. Va.

Beetham, who observed his 70th birthday in December, said he planned to "just rest" for a while.

AGOSTA WOMAN HURT AS AUTO STRIKES HOG

Animal Killed in Mishap North of Richwood.

Mrs. Howard Buckingham, 22, of Agosta, suffered minor bruises and abrasions on the left ankle last night when she car in which she was riding struck a 700-pound hog that had wandered onto State Route 37 about four miles north of Richwood, state highway patrolmen reported.

The hog was killed.

Mr. Buckingham, driver of the car, told officers he did not see the hog in time to avoid striking it. The hog, owned by Roscoe Campbell, in front of whose farm the mishap occurred, apparently had gotten out of a nearby field and strayed onto the road, the officers reported.

The car careened approximately 180 feet and tore down a section of a hedge fence before coming to a stop, the officers said.

EAST INDIES ATTITUDE AMPLIFIED BY JAPAN

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, April 19—The Japanese foreign office today declared removal of the "hypothetical basis"—the possibility of The Netherlands being invaded—was the only means for alleviating Japan's apprehension about maintaining the status quo in The Netherlands East Indies.

Yakichiro Suma, the foreign office spokesman, declared "superfluous" any further discussion of Secretary Hull's statement that the United States would be disturbed by any change in The Netherlands East Indies' status.

The Netherlands minister to Tokyo, Suma said, "fully appreciated" a similar statement made by Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita which Suma described as "a fundamental plank of Japanese policy."

The foreign office said the Hull and Arita statements coincided but some Japanese newspapers took a different view, attacking Hull's statement as a threat of United States intervention if the status of The Netherlands East Indies is changed.

The men gave their names as Ray Taylor, 34, of Niles, Mich., and Stephen Janas, 28, of Burnham, Ill. Both told police they had served time in the Indiana state prison.

DR. ROBERT WILLIAMS
President, Ohio Northern University.

TRAFFIC CLUB

Hitler is not firmly enough entrenched in power and Germany has not a sufficient supply of raw materials to stand a long war."

The Allies' strategy from the beginning, the speaker said, has been to keep the war going as slowly as possible and thus force Hitler to take the initiative. As a result, it has been necessary for Germany to invade the small "buffer" states surrounding her, destroy the protection that their neutrality offered and at the same time increase the number of enemy nations.

"The Allies realized that if Germany once started to conquer the neutral 'buffer' states she might easily make a mistake somewhere along the line and it now appears that Germany has finally made 'the mistake' in Norway," Dr. Williams said.

"It is my opinion," he said, "that during the last few days the British navy has destroyed a large part of the German fleet and that the menace of the German navy in European affairs has been destroyed for generations to come."

Referring to the criticism that has been directed toward Chamberlain and Daladier for making concessions to Hitler during the months preceding the war, Dr. Williams contended there are at least four factors which prompted these concessions.

Reasons for Concessions

First, he said, Chamberlain and Daladier "saw ghosts" in the form of Communism in Russia. While they realized that Hitler presented an immediate problem, their real fear was of the rise of Communism in future years and they thought they might be able "to shoo Hitler east and get rid of Stalin."

Second, the Allies were inadequately armed, having reduced their armaments far below the safety point during the disarmament movements since the World war.

The third factor he mentioned was the internal condition of both England and France which was "on the verse of an explosion" due to the depression and continued unemployment.

"And moreover," Dr. Williams declared, "whatever you say about Chamberlain and Daladier you must agree that they are humanitarians at heart and that they sincerely believed until the last that Europe's difficulties might be settled by civilized methods."

As for the outcome of the war, he predicted that a final victory for the Allies "is inevitable" since the British and French empires can support the war almost indefinitely.

He also predicted that Mussolini is doomed to lose which ever way the war ends.

"If Germany wins, Italy will merely be a satellite of Germany while if the Allies win they will undoubtedly make amends for Mussolini's conquest of Ethopia and Albania," he concluded.

Dr. Williams was introduced by C. K. Smaltz of Mansfield, a past president of the club.

Past Heads Get Pins

Ten men who have served as presidents of the club received past president's pins from Mr. Brennan, retiring president, who presided at the banquet. Those honored are:

A. R. Tennis of Marion, division freight agent for the Erie Railroad Co.; G. E. Sobers of Marion, traffic manager of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.; R. L. Alger, C. K. Smaltz, Claud Robison and G. A. Swineford, all four of Mansfield; Paul J. Sprunk of Birmingham, Ala., E. G. Waterman of Cincinnati, D. H. Jones of Grove City, Pa., and C. R. Hartshorn of Toledo. Mr. Hartshorn gave the response for the group.

Gifts of pen and pencil sets were presented to Grover Curren and Earl Webb, both of Toledo, who have assisted with arrangements for the club's affairs for several years.

Short talks regarding the club's activities were given by both Mr. Brennan and Mr. Boffenmyer. A. W. Baker of Marion, division superintendent of the Erie Railroad Co., extended an invitation to the group on behalf of the Marion Country club to hold one of its summer outings here this year and a similar invitation was extended by Harry Reiser of Ashland.

Several visitors from other states were introduced including Thomas H. Irwin of New York City, Barton M. Croll of Philadelphia, Pa., and Elmer Hanks of Pittsburgh, Pa.

During the dinner, there was a program of music by Bob McMahon's orchestra and after the meeting there was a floor show by a group of Mansfield and Cleveland entertainers.

MRS. TAFT ATTACKS NEW DEAL ON RELIEF

Charges Political Forces Split People Into Two Classes.

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 19—Mrs. Robert A. Taft, wife of the Ohio senator seeking the Republican presidential nomination, accuses the New Deal of dividing the American people by "its political administration of relief" and of trying to lead the way to a "one-man government."

Speaking at a Republican meeting here yesterday, Mrs. Taft said under the present relief setup WPA jobs are "a matter of luck and political favor." She added WPA families represent the "upper class of reliefers" and those on direct relief "unfortunate or outcasts."

Government will never solve riddle of unemployment, she said, contending that the solution remains a problem for free enterprise and business.

WASHINGTON, April 19—Sen. Robert A. Taft, Republican of Ohio, has introduced a hospital-building bill intended as a substitute for legislation drafted by Sen. Robert Wagner, Democrat of New York, and pending in the senate labor committee. Both bills authorize the appropriation of $10,000,000 annually for five years for construction of hospitals by state and local agencies throughout the nation.

Under the Wagner bill hospitals built with federal funds would be leased to the operators, while under the Taft proposal outright grants for 90 per cent of project costs would be made to states or their political subdivisions. Critics of the Wagner measure charge it would lead to eventual federal government control of the institutions.

FALSE ARREST CHARGED IN DELAWARE CO. SUIT

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., April 19 — Willard D. Wright filed suit yesterday in Delaware county common pleas court against W. T. Basinger for $2,000, claiming that the defendant "falsely, maliciously and without reason or probable cause complained under oath" to Justice John J. Schweitzer that the plaintiff unlawfully stole one load of straw valued at $15.

Wright charged Basinger had a warrant issued for his arrest and that he was held prisoner by a deputy sheriff. At the time of the trial, according to the petition, Basinger acknowledged that Wright was not the person who had stolen the straw and Wright was acquitted. Wright contended Basinger had brought him into "public scandal and disgrace" and that he has been "greatly injured in his credit and reputation," suffering "great anxiety and pain of body and mind to the sum of $2,000."

HEAD OF ALLEGED TIRE THEFT RING ARRESTED

By The Associated Press

Cavolo said the man was head of a dummy company which solicited orders from legitimate tire distributors and then filled the orders by having spare tires and wheels stolen.

The detective declared he had confiscated files showing the dummy company sold from $2,000 to $5,000 worth of tires a month.

Arrest of the alleged ringleader was disclosed after Cavolo joined Toledo police in raiding three tire shops there. More than $5,000 worth of tires were recovered, he said.

Tuberculosis

A YOUNG Austrian doctor puzzled about how to tell when there was disease in the chest. He had been treating a patient who had no very striking symptoms, but when he died his lungs were found riddled with tuberculosis. The chest seldom shows pain to guide in a diagnosis as does the abdomen, and its stiff walls prevent one from feeling anything beneath it.

Finally he hit on the idea that a barrel containing air makes a different sound when struck than when full of fluid or flour. The chest normally is full of air, but when tuberculosis comes the air cells are infiltrated with solid matter. He tried out this idea by tapping the chest to elicit a sound, and so we have the method of percussion to discover densities in the chest.

Later another young doctor, a Frenchman, saw some children in the park playing the game of transmitting messages by scratching with a pin at one end of a board while the receiver of the message listened with his ear glued to the other end. The idea flashed into his mind that he might hear the sounds made by the lungs by placing a hollow tube against the chest wall and listening at the other end. He tried it and the stethoscope was born.

These methods allowed doctors to make a diagnosis of tuberculosis, and they are still used. But some cases escape them, especially very early cases.

Later, in 1882, when the German, Koch, discovered the cause of tuberculosis, the tubercle bacillus, he pointed out that it is present in the sputum of patients with the disease. But this procedure too often fails in early cases.

The tuberculin skin test, introduced by Pirquet in 1907, is reliable for early tuberculosis but does not tell where the tuberculosis is.

The National Tuberculosis Association has asked that during April particular attention be called to the use of the x-ray in the diagnosis of tuberculosis. The x-ray is particularly valuable in finding tuberculosis which cannot be suspected by any other means.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. M. J.: "Is either cockleburr tea or alfalfa tea of advantage in the treatment of diabetes?"

Answer—No. On the contrary, distinctly disadvantageous because the patient tends to neglect the essential forms of treatment. Diet and insulin are the only methods of treatment that can be recommended.

WINNERS IN DRAWING CONTEST ARE ANNOUNCED

Virginia Mounts Wins Award in Art School Event.

A drawing by Virginia Mounts, 16, of 275 Olney avenue, was selected from 106 entries to win first prize in a "draw Pinocchio" contest sponsored by the Marion School of Art, Irvin Courtad, director, announced today.

The entries were judged by Miss Isabel Uncapher of the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school who has classes in poster making, Ray Romine of 854 Westwood drive, a member of the Brush and Chisel club, and Don Pettit of 347 Windsore street, manager of the Kinney Co., shoe store.

As a reward, the winner of first prize will receive free a 10-week course of art at the Marion School of Art, in the Marion County bank building. Complimentary tickets to the Palace theater, where "Pinocchio" will be shown starting Saturday, will be given the 10 whose entries were judged as next best in the contest. They are Dorothy E. Thew, Daniel Chapman, Jimmy Cox, Joyce Ann Bohyer, Carl Messenger, Dorothy Jeanne Tuttle, William Chapman, Joan Mounts, Russell Drippa and James Blank.

MARKET STILL LAGGING TODAY

Nervousness Apparent as Issues Fail To Get Up Rallying Steam.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 19—While less nervousness was apparent in Wall Street today, the stock market continued to experience rallying qualms.

Traders seemed as confused as ever over European war despatches although most were heartened by the better tone of domestic business news.

Bonds were mixed and commodities easier. Foreign markets were fairly steady. "Free" sterling slipped in terms of the dollar after early firmness.

Lacking rising steam were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical and Union Carbide.

One economic survey said the conflict between two major forces—war and business—was tending to influence the future of security prices.

Council Places Relief and Fire Levies on Ballot

men are recommended because of that law.

Fire Equipment Needs

The insurance rate may be increased unless improvements are made would affect only commercial and industrial properties It would not affect strictly residential properties.

Mayor Snare and other officials contend that regardless of the rate question the city needs new fire equipment. Much of its present equipment is antiquated and unreliable

In an informal session before the regular council meeting the two levies were discussed briefly One councilman who declined to be quoted urged passage of the fire levy to protect business and industry from the insurance rate boost He declared business has been "kicked around rather persistently in recent years He also pointed out that most citizens of Marion are dependent for their living on business and industry and that greater insurance rates might discourage new industries from coming here and might even drive out some already here

One councilman suggested formation of a Marion county mutual insurance company — which would write its own insurance

Mayor Snare also expressed the belief that once Marion's insurance rates are raised it might be five or 10 years before the insurance people would lower the rate and then it would be only a partial reduction

He also said the insurance interests are making rate investigations in many other cities

Fire Levy Read

The regular council session opened with reading of the fire department levy legislation for the second time It was given its first reading at a special council session Monday night

Council President Robert H Stief called for favorable comment and none was heard Fred G Patton of S W O C No 1049 (C I O union) responded to the call for opposition comment and asked what had become of a resolution the union had submitted to council some time ago asking for resubmission of the relief problem at the primaries After some delay due to misunderstanding Mr Patton was told council also had a relief levy to propose

Councilman M Basil Williams said that in the past few days he had been feeling the pulse of the Third ward and found it beating weakly as far as the fire department levy is concerned He said he realizes the department sorely needs new equipment but that many of his constituents have suffered cuts in working hours and can not see additional taxes at this time He said it wouldn't pass —at least in the Third ward

Another objection' he said 'is that many people don't like the idea of some one coming in and telling us to do this and that

Inquires About Rate Boost

Councilman Biggert said if possible the dollars and cents costs involved in the rate increase should be made clear He said that where the improvement now might cost about $50 000, it might perhaps cost $100 000 in five or 10 years

Councilman Hayse Rogers added that as long as it costs nothing to put the levy on the ballot, it might be wise to do that to give the public a chance to express itself on protecting industry

Before final action was taken on the fire levy the relief levy was read and discussed

Mr Patton again rose and declared that his organization would support both levies if both are proposed Ellis Oiler of S W O C No 1047 expressed a similar opinion

President Stief called for opposition to the relief levy but no one appeared

Louis E Michel secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, at one point asked how the relief levy rate compares with the one proposed in January and was told it was 6 of a mill larger He asked if it is felt the increase is needed because of lack of W P A and was told that such was the case

MORE

Delinquent Tax Funds

Councilman Williams inquired about whether the city could durate any funds from delinquent taxes He said he has heard that there is a considerable amount available right now which notes could be issued to raise funds for relief

Mayor Snare said there is $149 000 outstanding in delinquent taxes but that the city could safely borrow only 30 to 40 per cent of this He explained it at previous issues of delinquent tax notes amounting to $195 000 have taken the cream off the overdue taxes He said it is a questionable method of financing

After a short recess council unanimously passed the fire levy proposal and brought the relief proposal up to a final vote Before it was passed Councilman Biggert began his discussion

Compose yourselves fellow councilmen he droned indicating he was about to do considerable talking

He first went back a few years and recalled how the city met a financial crisis in 1930 by reducing fire and police departments and curtailing other departments of the city Elective officials and some appointive officers took wage cuts he said

If the relief levy fails to pass then the city can go into its general fund for money he pointed out

Says Budget Must Balance

Our budget is out of balance and I'm definitely against he grain with me I dislike very much to be a party to a reduction in the police and fire departments but I can't go too long with the budget overbalanced, he said

The mayor and others took exception to his statement of the budget being out of balance They contend all city department except relief are within their appropriations Mr Biggert was taking into consideration relief however

I want the folks to know Mr Biggert said that if the levy is not passed and we have to go to the general fund to finance relief we may be in about the same position as Columbus is now And from what the papers say it is desperate

He said he thinks it is wishful thinking to believe that Roosevelt or Bricker is going to come through because this is an election year

'Relief may or may not be permanent' he said adding that for the last six or seven years he has been told it is a temporary problem He spoke disparagingly of buck passing and stop gap tactics in handling the relief problem

Comments On Pay Cuts

Going into the possibility that if the levy fails, the city might have to reduce its personnel he said

I will be opposed—just now —in event we have to make a reduction to any more waivers if we have to reduce wages It shall be done by ordinance as far as I'm concerned

The last time the city sought to cut wages it was not done by ordinance with the result that several city officials and employes refused to accept cuts and filed suits to recover them back pay—and won

It sounds nasty' Mr Biggert said but we have to I don't like to talk this way but we are faced with a crisis as far as I'm concerned

He said he dislikes tampering with the general fund but he dislikes also the idea of ending up the year in the red

Mr Biggert then went into other possible sources of revenue

We need a motion of gamblers I leave it (the statement) right there without qualification We like to take a chance

Going into the question further, he suggested sweepstakes and other theater features as possible sources of revenue

Mentions Theater Tax

Mr Biggert also suggested taxes on theater admissions if it can be done and City Solicitor Kenneth Robinson said it is probably possible The councilman mentioned a tax of two cents for children and five cents for adults

And then there's the numbers game Mr Biggert said Everyone around here knows who runs it But if they take $5 000 a day let's have 25 per cent Let's organize it legally and work em And I mean work em

He advised assessing the numbers (ash and all the writers) $5 a month

If you know of a good rap game that legalize it and work 'em he said Also a good poker games running reasonably

Let's legalize slot machines pin ball machines and punch boards Charge $10 to $15 a month for each machine

He also suggested a possibility of a municipal bingo game and if any one else wants cut in all right on 'em plenty

Mr Biggert also referred to basketball and football pools

I just don't think of a whole lot more things in the line of what I call pleasure but we seem to have plenty of money for pleasure crowd It is time necessary to move Marion the Salem and Gomorrah of Ohio to live let's do it

He recalled a scrap raided by police on an alleged gambling establishment

Would Tax Gambling

I don't know whether it's back yet or not he said But you can't stop these things Let's legalize it and extract our portion and we'll get plenty

I may be churched because I'm mentioning these things Mr Biggert said But I don't mean to have every one spend all the money he makes on pleasure and gambling But we are spending a lot

I'm very serious about this thing as a new and untried source of revenue If the people have 25 cents to go to a show, they've got another nickel

Mr Biggert said that as a last resort he would vote for an occupational tax He objects to such a tax however because it exempts people who draw their pay out of Marion but who live and work here He also objects to a flat assessment on all men in a certain trade or profession

I don't think it exactly fair to tax all doctors $50 Some of them aren't making $50 and others are making thousands"

After Mr Biggert had finished Councilman W A Dorsey questioned him about some of his statements

Is it necessary to do these things if the relief levy passes" he said

Not Necessary If Levy Passes

It would not be necessary then Mr Biggert said But I'm sad not to know if I want the project I know what might happen I want them to start thinking now so it is food for thought for the people doing the voting I'd much prefer to see a levy pass

Mr Dorsey asked if he meant that the 1940 budget is already out of balance

No I said said Mr Biggert Mr Dorsey said reports show the city is living within its income but that there is no money available for doing anything more than carry on normal government services Those do not include large scale relief

Is it what you mean" asked Mr Dorsey

That's what I mean replied Mr Biggert

As an afterthought Mr Biggert said

I forgot one thing We did ask for $50 000 in our budget last fall for relief but the budget commission evidently ignored it completely

REAL SAFETY FOR SILKS, WOOLS... WITH AMAZING NEW IVORY SNOW! SUDS IN 3 SECONDS IN COOL WATER!

QUICK 2-MINUTE WAY TO WASH STOCKINGS...

ASTOUNDING! New Ivory Snow called a wonder soap—revolutionizes ideas of washing silks and woolens!

AMAZING FACTS! Works in cool water—bursts into suds in 3 seconds—first soap to dissolve quickly and completely in cool water!

MARVELOUS RESULTS! Silk lingerie sparkles and gleams—woolens stay soft, fleecy—even stocking runs cut to the minimum!

ALL OVER TOWN TODAY, women are saying, "Good-bye to slow-poke soaps . . . good-bye to stirring up suds in hot water." Yes—and the most glorious thrill of all, women can say, "Good-bye to washed-out colors, faded in hot water!" "Good-bye to shrunken woolens ruined by hot water and rubbing."

With new Ivory Snow here, it's easy to wash fine things a way washing experts say is safe—in cool water! Ivory Snow bursts into suds in 3 seconds at a safe, cool temperature! So easy to keep even difficult washables—things like satin negligees, crepe blouses, knitted woolen dresses—looking lovely through washing after washing!

So try Ivory Snow—you'll marvel! It's a brand new kind of soap—newer than flakes—newer than powders! But it keeps that famous Ivory purity that spells S-A-F-E-T-Y to all fine washables. No wonder women welcome this new speed form of pure Ivory Soap.

No Fading from Hot Suds

What are the greatest risks in washing fine silks and woolens? "Hot water . . . impure soap . . . rubbing!" washing experts tell you. Hot water often makes colors run or fade. Hot water tends to shrink woolens. Nice things are either ruined or robbed of their fresh pretty colors. Then all the pleasure of wearing them is gone.

So avoid hot water—avoid slow-dissolving soaps that tempt you to use hot water! With this new Ivory Snow, you can use just cool water, and get suds in three seconds! Think of the time saved! Think of the safety—for all your nice washable silks, rayons and woolens!

Keep that Stocking Bill Down!

Swish stockings out every time with new Ivory Snow! It doesn't matter whether the water is cool, warm—or even cold. [illegible] You'll get those [illegible] with Ivory Snow. It's [illegible] gives them the [illegible] all [illegible] is [illegible] only [illegible] Ivory Snow [illegible] gently washed in cool Ivory Snow suds. And since Ivory Snow is pure—just like Ivory Soap—it leaves no strong deposits on baby garments to irritate that tender little skin.

Rich Suds Mean Economy

You get so much suds—such rich suds—with just a little Ivory Snow! No wonder women say Ivory Snow is economical to use. Actually, you'll find you can give your clothes the protection of this gentle, cool-water soap—you can save time with these speedy "3-second suds"—for no more than it costs you to use old-fashioned fine-fabrics soaps.

Try New Ivory Snow Today

You'll see new Ivory Snow today in your store in a blue-and-white box. Try it in both your bathroom and laundry. See why other women say, "It's fast. It's safe. It's wonderful!"

Cleveland Running Fever As Tribe Plays First Home Tilt

5,000 Fans Jam Station as Players Return; Feller Is Idol at Moment.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 19—The Indians open the season today with this city of a million stirred to its highest baseball fever since the delirious pennant days of 1920.

The enthusiasm, overshadowing cloudy skies that kept the air at football temperatures, engulfed busy Euclid avenue and swept out into the suburbs to lure fans into downtown throngs awaiting game time. More than 30,000 were expected at Lakefront stadium to see the game.

Feller Due Sunday

The 21-year-old player most responsible for the interest wasn't even scheduled to play in the inaugural against the Detroit Tigers. Bob Feller's turn will come Sunday when he makes his first mound appearance since twirling a no-hit opener against Chicago.

The fans staged a preview last night as 5,000 jammed the concourse of Union terminal for a glimpse of Feller and his teammates as they arrived from Chicago. Mayor Harold H. Burton led the welcoming delegation. It took the players 20 minutes to fight their way out of the mob.

In the early thirties it was an axiom that an American league season was never started officially until Cleveland fans and sports writers picked the Indians to win the pennant. Their title appetite finally dulled by constant disappointments, Indian followers turned blase. For the last three or four years most of them could take their Indians or leave them.

Not Over-Optimistic

Now they are "back in the groove." No one is picking the Indians to win the pennant (the Yankees are still in the league), but the faithful are ready to back a club that has more team spirit, more possibilities and more will-to-win than any in the last decade.

Manager Oscar Vitt nominated Johnny Allen, the team's biggest question mark, for mound duty. After an arm operation Allen was unimpressive last season in winning nine and losing seven.

Henry Pippen, a right-hander who once hurled for Philadelphia, was Detroit's mound selection. Bruce Campbell and Earl Averill, former Tribal outfielders, are with the Tigers, with the former listed to start.

The city named Mayor Burton as its pitcher.

RED SOX GET GOOD PITCHING--SO FAR

If They Keep It Up, Fast Race Looms.

By The Associated Press

All during the spring, reports kept coming out of the southland that the Boston Red Sox pitching, most flagrant if not only weakness of the Sox last year, would be sparkling this season.

It certainly is so far. Lefty Grove shut out the Washington Senators on two hits in the opening game Tuesday. Then young Jim Bagby came right back with another five-hit 7-0 shutout against the Senators yesterday.

If the other members of the Boston staff can follow this lead the American league unquestionably is in for a fast race. The Red Sox have everything else. As a team they were better hitters last year than the New York Yankees and their fielding was satisfactory.

The Detroit Tigers may be another troublemaker in the junior circuit. They are gifted with power as long as old Charley Gehringer is at second. He and Hank Greenberg combined to give the Bengals a 4-2 decision over the St. Louis Browns yesterday. Greenberg hit a homer with one on, then Gehringer got on base and Greenberg tripled and finally Gehringer hit a homer of his own. Another veteran, Tommy Bridges, contributed careful seven-hit hurling.

The Cincinnati Reds are living up to their spring boasts, too. They nosed out the Chicago Cubs 2-1 again with Gene Thompson holding the Bruins to five hits and shutting them out until the ninth, against Claude Passeau.

Ohio's Title Threat Washed Cars A Year Ago

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, O.—A year ago Jack (Buddy) Walker, 194-pound Negro, was washing automobiles for a living and missing plenty of meals. Today he is unbeaten in 18 fights, some against pretty fair fighters, and is aiming for the heights.

His story has a rags to riches tang:

On April 3, 1939, a preliminary heavyweight ran out on matchmaker "Whitey" Morrett of Columbus and "Whitey" started a last-minute search for a substitute.

In the crowd outside, unable to buy a ticket, was Walker, he had never had a boxing glove on his big hands, but when Morrett offered him $5 for a four-rounder he snatched it. He was clumsy, but he kayoed his foe, George Kirsch of Akron, in the third.

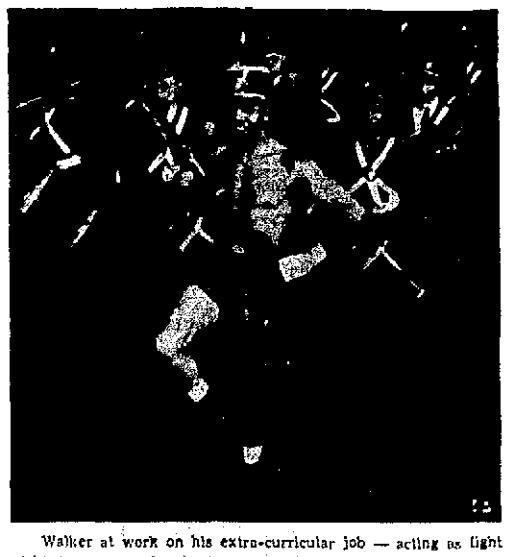
That show drew a "gross" of $40. In his next two fights Walker scored one-round knockouts over Oscar Toles of Youngstown and Jack Lowe of San Francisco. His cut for the three knockouts added up to $15.

Up He Goes

Then Morrett moved him into six-rounders and boosted his pay to $10 per scrap. The box office was responding to the thud of Walker's fists. Walker won by knockouts over Ed (Tipperary) Murray of Shelby, O., in two rounds, over Tommy Carter of Detroit in five, over Bob Thomas of Lockland, O., in five, and over Young Harry Wills of Cincinnati in six.

After his seventh straight knockout, Walker moved into the main events. He won 10-round decisions over Paul Pavorz of Detroit and Charley Belanger of Canada, but used the kayo method on Floyd Gibbons of Detroit in six, "Smoky" Maggard of Dayton, Ky., in three, and "Wild Bill" Boyd, Jack Dempsey's protege, in eight.

That made a total of 10 knockouts and two decisions in nine months.



Walker at work on his extra-curricular job — acting as light night drum major for the Negro American Legion drum and bugle corps at Columbus.

Walker opened 1940 with a 10-round decision over tough Eddie Simms of Cleveland, then scored three-round knockouts over Sandy McDonald of Dallas, Tex., and Bob Nestell of Los Angeles. Then came a 12-round decision over Simms and a seven-round knockout over Ed Murray.

On April 1, two days less than a year from the first time he ever stepped in the ring, Walker dug himself out of the resin after a count of nine on a second-round knockdown and battled to a draw with Patsy Perroni of Canton, O., a fancy boxer.

Jack Dempsey refereed the Perroni scrap, and said he thought Walker had a slight edge despite the knockdown.

No Auto-Washing Now

Every scrap after Walker's first showed a gate increase and against Perroni Jack drew 9,087 fans. The three previous fights grossed more than $6,000 each. Walker has been reaping 25 per cent of the gross.

Color? The big fellow — he stands six feet one and weighs 194—has everything. He has scored three of his knockouts with his left hand, and the others with his right. He can take it, too—Simms and Perroni each had him on the floor in early rounds but couldn't win.

The Negro American Legion post here has adopted him as honorary drum major of its drum and bugle corps, and on fight nights Walker gets into his ring togs and leads the musicians around the coliseum. He admits the only notes he knows are bank notes, and that he's getting plenty of them — a far cry, in a single year, from his auto-washing days.

Marion's Golfers Still Awaiting Spring Weather

Patiently awaiting a change of the weatherman's heart Marion's golfers are hopeful that this weekend may bring them weather suitable for outdoor activity.

Population at the Marion Country club and Mar-O-Del courses is due to zoom with the thermometer. Golfers will be content to take a few practice rounds but at Mar-O-Del they're being offered an early season tournament.

Johnny Rife, greens superintendent, has concocted plans for the tourney, which will have seperate divisions for the men and women. He's calling it a "ringer" tourney.

Each time around the entrant posts his lowest score for each hole. At the close of competition June 3, the golfer with the lowest tally on the "ringer" board is declared the winner. The tourney, Rife points out, provides good evidence that consistency is a prime factor in developing a good game.

HITS INDOOR PRACTICE

Pep Young, Temple university's baseball coach, believes indoor practice has little value in developing a college team for a season.

Softball Leaders Map Plans for New Season

Prospective entries in the city's organized softball leagues were reminded that Monday, April 22, has been set as the date for filing entrance blanks as commission members convened last night at the Y. M. C. A.

Further plans for the season were mapped by Paul Rice, president, who announced the appointment of various committees. Members reported that the four leagues which were active last season will be ready to go when the season opens May 6. It is likely that a new loop may be added.

Loop for Veterans

Those active last year are the Sunday School No. 1 and No. 2 leagues and the Commercial and Industrial circuits. Plans are under consideration to form a fifth circuit, which would be restricted to teams composed of players over 30 years of age. President Rice reported there has been considerably interest in such a loop and that four teams have signified a desire to participate in a senior circuit.

The commission again will sponsor the operation of a junior league, organized under the direction of Y. M. C. A. officials. The loop, which in previous years has played afternoon games, is for softball players under 18 years.

Prospective Sponsors

Among interested groups expected to sponsor clubs are the Young Democratic organization and the Lions Club. Two teams, Epworth No. 1 and Epworth Bishops, have filed entry blanks. Another organization, the Phalanx Fraternity, has also announced its intention of competing.

Committees appointed by President Rice follow: Purchasing, W. R. Martin, chairman, Elmer Shaw, Clarence Snyder; grounds, Hubert Taylor, chairman, Marion Hinklin, and Robert O'Connell; rules, R. G. Smallwood, chairman, Anson Pickerel, William Fabian; umpires, Hosea Williams, chairman, L. E. Oberlander.

MARATHON ON TODAY

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, April 19—A bit of silver, just enough to cool the body's racking pains, and a wreath of laurel, just large enough to circle a bursting head, are the only rewards that will be bestowed on the winner of today's 44th Boston A. A. Marathon. Despite that, almost 200 of the most sincere amateurs in sport—each pays $1 entrance fee and all expenses—will be on the starting line in Hopkinton at high noon to attempt the arduous 26 miles—385 yards of steep hills and dales.

TOLEDO WINS FIRST A. A. TILT OF SEASON

Knock Off Blues; Columbus Loses to Milwaukee 5-2.

By The Associated Press

Toledo's Mudhens, who have wound up in the American Association cellar more times than any other team in the league, may have their say this season—13 years after their one and only pennant.

The Mudhens gave several indications of that yesterday as the Association's 39th season opened despite murky skies, cold and rain.

Playing the No. 1 team of last year did not nettle them at all as they walloped Kansas City's defending champions, 11 to 4.

Lefty Bob Logan of Indianapolis turned in a four-hit performance and a 3 to 2 victory over Vedie Himsl of St. Paul.

Pete Hader of Columbus and Frank Makosky of Milwaukee also had a tight duel for eight innings, then the Brewers drove Hader from the box in the ninth with a four-run assault and won, 5 to 2.

A slugfest occurred at Louisville where a crowd of 8,861 persons, the largest of the day, watched last year's Shaughnessy playoff winners rally for two runs in the ninth to whip Minneapolis, 8 to 7.

New Yorker To Battle Texan in Headliner on Shovel Mat

East meets west when husky George Becker of New York City tackles Bill Cazzell of Laredo, Tex., in the heavyweight tilt featured on Monday's mat show at the Marion Steam Shovel arena.

Their meeting in the main go will be a 90-minute fray with two falls to win. Walter (Sneeze) Achu of Hawaii and Bob Anderson of Dayton are cast in the supporting roles meeting in a 45-minute semi-final.

Becker puts his perfect local record on the block in the duel with Cazzell. The New Yorker polished off Maurice Leitchford in his first appearance here and then outsmarted Achu in a latter scrap.

Cazzell made himself front rank timber by whipping Al Szasz last week. He took the measure of the Missourian in consecutive falls and drew a long round of applause for his aggressive and clean style of battling.

The Achu-Anderson bout should provide an excellent build-up for the feature attraction. Achu, one-time gridiron great at Dayton university, was seen here two weeks ago against Becker. He lost a chance of staying the full route with the New Yorker when he missed his target on a head d... and went sailing through t... ropes to slumberland.

Anderson, a Dayton product, h... been on the local card only on... in recent weeks. He came ... with a decisive victory over a C... lumbus foe in a prelim battle.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, April 20

UNUSUAL initiative and aggressive action may be read from the predominant planetary auspices. The effort to launch new and important projects may be crowned with practical and constructive results, the forces being highly stimulated and the mental insight into progressive propositions being keen, shrewd and dependable. Forethought rather than expediency is recommended. Work with groups may be lucrative.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an active and progressive year, with new plans and projects favored. Things may move with much initiative and under high pressure. There may be profit in the cooperation of groups or social bodies.

A child born on this day may have much initiative and enterprise, with forces and faculties stimulated into creative lines, practical or intellectual.

GANDHI TOPS CHAMBERLAIN

By International News Service

LONDON — If Gracie Fields (movie star), Premier Neville Chamberlain, George Bernard Shaw and Mahatma Gandhi were marooned on a desert island and only one could be rescued by an airplane, whom would you save? This problem was debated by a literary society at Northwood, Middlesex, recently. The vote was in favor of Gandhi with Premier Chamberlain a close second, and Gracie Fields third. George Bernard Shaw received only one vote.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

By ANNE ADAMS

VIVACIOUS THREE-IN-ONE STYLE

PATTERN 4446

Summertime and the active outdoor life call for gay versatility. Here's an Anne Adams triumph, Pattern 4446, that's almost a complete wardrobe in one. It's a jumper and short-sleeved blouse...a sleeveless sun-frock.. or a two-piece summer suit, with the blouse pattern used to make a trim jacket. Notice the cleverly designed sunback, made in graceful wrap-around style and adjusted by a front-tying sash drawn through buttonholes. The skirt has nice action-freedom. Crisp white pique would be smart for the frock...linen or shantung for the jacket-dress and a gay peasant print for the jumper style.

Pattern 4446 is available in junior miss sizes 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17. Size 13, jumper, takes 2¾ yards 35 inch fabric; blouse, ⅛ yards contrast.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Select your warm weather wardrobe from our new ANNE ADAMS SUMMER PATTERN BOOK! Flattering sport clothes for sun and surf—romantic evening gowns—a costume for the June bride—the correct thing for travel wear—cottons for informal and dress occasions and "pocket edition" styles for children—all the fashion ingredients for a successful Summer designed for you by Anne Adams. Order your copy today. The book is fifteen cents but when ordered with a pattern, which is also fifteen cents, THE TWO TOGETHER ARE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.
